

I think yes we should have zoos because people to help reintroduce them. for example forty red wolves were taken into captivity and send to several zoos throughout United States. soon red cubs were born and their population began to increase.