2	Dad took us to the zoo. “Let’s go and see the monkeys,” said Dad. “Me, too,” said Rosa.
3	We lifted Rosa up. “I like monkeys,” said Rosa. “Let’s go and see the lions,” I said. “Me, too!” said Rosa.
4	We lifted Rosa up. She looked at the lion. It walked up and down, up and down, looking at us.
5	Then the lion roared. Rosa cried. “I don’t like lions,” she said.
6	We went to see the elephant. It was having a bath. Rosa likes baths. She looked at the elephant and said, “Me, too!” “Me, too!”
7	“No, Rosa,” said Dad. “That bath is for the elephant.”
8	The elephant looked at Rosa. It lifted up its trunk. WOOOOSH! Rosa was wet all over. “There you are,” said Dad. “No bath. But you did get a shower.”
